The auto-trim function and a race-inspired pump, impeller and intake grate help turn huge power into thrillingly precise performance. The lightweight NanoXcel2 hull and body keep things agile and responsive. Fast is fun. Fast with confidence is where things get really interesting.

Enough was never the plan. Supercharged power, race-inspired technology and a single-seat focus combine to deliver a shot of pure adrenaline. The GP SVHO is for riders who hear "that's probably fast enough" and take it as a challenge. Some people look for relaxation on the water. This model respectfully declines the invitation.

Launch Control, Cornering Control and a race-developed pump, impeller and intake grate help turn outrageous performance into something dangerously addictive. The confidence to brake later. Turn harder. Accelerate sooner. Then immediately convince yourself you can do it even better.

A lightweight race-bred body, adjustable race handlebars and a performance-focused riding position let you make the most of every surge of power. Power this impressive deserves control to match. Fortunately, that's included.
